Please reach out to Laura separately in addition to completing this information. Parking is limited, there's no room to spread out, no hook-ups, and no barking dogs, please (I have neighbors close by – they are great neighbors and I want to keep them that way, please.)

New River Junction is a beautiful campground with hook-ups about 5-7 miles away along the New River. Look them up on Facebook for more information, especially for upper-medium and longer sized rigs. They are pet friendly and know about my hosting events. Book early if interested.
